Last fall, SCS was awarded all HPRP (Homelessness Prevention and Rapid Re-housing Program) stimulus funds granted to the City of Sunnyvale, just under $500,000. The stimulus grant came with very clear instructions—spend the funds as quickly as possible to prevent families being evicted from their apartments and to get the money into circulation. We certainly followed directions!

Starting October 1, 2009, we paid rent for 333 families (over 900 individuals), helping to keep our neighbors in their homes and putting money into circulation in Sunnyvale. People asking for assistance may have lost multiple jobs, or were waiting several months for unemployment benefits to start, or were forced to move when the homes and apartments they were renting were foreclosed.

In the spring, the City’s Housing Officer received a phone call from Washington D.C. SCS had distributed HPRP funds faster than any other jurisdiction in the entire country, and they wanted to know how we were able to do it! There were two major reasons. First is our focus. Over the years, our Board of Directors has focused all our resources on the two services most critical to our clients, financial aid and food. Second, we didn’t hire a program manager or additional caseworkers specifically for this program. Our “veteran” caseworkers handle all cases in the same manner: assess clients’ needs, determine eligibility, verify all documentation, then determine the most appropriate funds to use for financial assistance. Despite considerably more complicated reporting requirements for HPRP funds, SCS spent virtually all of the grant funds within seven months.

We are grateful to City of Sunnyvale Housing Officer Suzanne Isé and her staff for their help and support with this challenging but very productive grant that prevented eviction for over 900 low-income Sunnyvale residents.
United Way Gives High Marks to SCS

For the next three-year funding cycle, volunteers at United Way Silicon Valley considered 86 programs for funding in three categories. To be considered, the agencies’ programs had to meet United Way’s goals and objectives, and the nonprofit organizations had to demonstrate both sound fiscal and program management. Thirty-six programs were selected for funding, each receiving a grant of $50,000 renewable for two additional years. According to Toni Ensunsua, Director of Investments and Impact Programs, “the volunteers felt very strongly that Sunnyvale Community Services’ programs were among the very best meeting the goals of ‘Supporting Basic Needs’ by preventing eviction and hunger.”

As part of United Way’s Emergency Assistance Network, SCS also receives funds for direct client aid. SCS sincerely appreciates the support and confidence of United Way Silicon Valley.

Sobrato Family Foundation Can Turn $44,000 into $132,400

The Sobrato Family Foundation recently awarded SCS a $44,000 challenge grant, unrestricted funds for operating expenses. If we match that amount in one year in new donations, donations from donors who haven’t given in a year, and increased donations from current donors, the foundation will give SCS an additional $46,200 (the grant amount plus a 5% increase). “With this prolonged period of economic distress, our local unemployed and homeless individuals and families are continuing to need record high levels of food and rent assistance. SCS has successfully responded and met the increased need due to the generosity and kindness of individual and other private funders. Our Foundation hopes to inspire more local citizens to donate or to increase their current donations knowing they will be doubly matched as these challenging economic times continue,” said Diane Parnes, Foundation Executive Director.

Rubio’s Opens Their Doors & Helps SCS!

Rubio’s Fresh Mexican Grill celebrated its new Sunnyvale location with a pre-opening event on August 18 to benefit Sunnyvale Community Services. The fundraising event had well over 300 attendees during the dinner hour, and raised $3,305 dollars for SCS. The pre-opening event was one of the largest in the San Diego-based chain’s history! One hundred percent of all funds raised during the event were given to SCS. As a result, we have additional funds to provide food and emergency assistance to Sunnyvale families who need it most.

“Rubio’s fans came out in droves for our Sunnyvale store opening,” said chairman and co-founder Ralph Rubio. “Not only were we happy that people enjoyed the great food Rubio’s offers, but Sunnyvale Community Services came away with needed funds that will sustain their excellent programs and staff. We’re glad we could support such an important part of the Sunnyvale community.”

El Camino Hospital Foundation Supports Safety Net Programs

According to Popular Science Magazine, “El Camino Hospital in Silicon Valley is the most technologically advanced in the world.” It is also known for its very effective community benefit program that works to address the root causes of health disparities and to lower barriers to care for the underserved. The hospital awarded a $75,000 grant to SCS to pay for clients’ otherwise unaffordable medical, medical equipment, and prescription expenses and to purchase nutritious food for the family and senior food programs. “We are very strongly committed to supporting Sunnyvale Community Services,” said Barbara Avery, Director of Community Benefit. “SCS not only addresses critical safety net needs, but also it provides those services extremely quickly and effectively.”

Dinner at the Dump!

On June 26th, hundreds of folks attended a trashy affair at Specialty Solid Waste & Recycling. Great food, great people, and lots of raffle items made it a fun evening. Our hosts were Jerry and Julie Nabhan and Rebecca Buldo. All proceeds went to local community organizations including SCS.

Jerry Nabhan, Specialty Solid Waste & Recycling, presented a check for $7,300 to SCS from the proceeds from the 2010 “Dinner at the Dump.”

SCS receives donations of bread from Panera’s in Sunnyvale and Cupertino. We now have bread distribution for our families three mornings a week. Delicious!
SCS distributed a record number of 1,028 new school backpacks filled with school supplies this year!

We needed more donations than ever before. Sunnyvale Rotary set the pace early with their donation of 250 filled backpacks. The Family Giving Tree donated over 330 backpacks, and long-time supporters at Northrop Grumman donated backpacks and school supplies valued at $2,700. The Silicon Valley Association of Realtors donated 40 filled backpacks, the Sunnyvale Lions came in with 25 backpacks with brand new school supplies, and Sunnyvale Presbyterian arrived with 60 backpacks all filled with everything students need. And, our newest corporate partner and Sunnyvale neighbor, Nokia Corporation, donated 250 backpacks! Countless individual donors and groups also donated, and dozens of energetic volunteers, many of them students, helped sort the supplies and fill them with necessities to start the school year. We rounded it out with a generous donation from HP.

Our distribution day was August 24th – one of the hottest days of the year, and everyone kept their cool! SCS’ business neighbors at D.G.W. Auctions shared their parking lot and countless volunteers directed traffic. Every child received an age-appropriate set of school supplies, so our Sunnyvale students are ready to do their best!
Making Ends Meet in The Heart of Silicon Valley

The California Budget Project is an independent nonprofit organization that analyzes legislation and public policies to attempt to improve the economic and social well-being of low and middle income Californians. CBP’s June report, “Making Ends Meet: How Much Does It Take To Raise a Family in California,” clearly shows why so many people seek help from SCS.

“The Great Recession has battered California’s economy and left millions of workers and their families without jobs and with reduced incomes. While home prices in most parts of the state have fallen substantially, the cost of health care, child care, and other basic necessities has continued to rise. As a result, millions of Californians continue to struggle to make ends meet.”

The numbers for Santa Clara County plainly demonstrate why so many of our neighbors struggle to make ends meet, and why the level of need at SCS has seen an “exponential boom.”

These numbers assume a 40 hour work week, full time work all year, and full time employment for both parents in two working parent families. Needless to say, our clients make a fraction of these amounts even when working full time, often without any health care or other benefits including paid sick leave.

Holiday Open House

Sunday, Dec. 5th, 1 – 4 pm

There is no better way to get into the holiday season than to come to the Open House for the Christmas Center. SCS will be filled with shelves stocked with gifts for children and their families. We’ll have holiday music, desserts, and good cheer.

Remember—you can help us fill the shelves at the Christmas Center by making a financial donation, or donating new toys and household gifts.
A young mother and her two children were living a relatively comfortable life until they were abandoned by her husband. Immediately, she became a single parent facing tremendous financial problems. Facing a cut in pay or reduced hours is difficult enough, but she confronted seemingly insurmountable challenges. Her income was cut to $2,200 a month. If that was not challenging enough, she faced unpaid credit card and utility bills, as well as a car repair bill of $900. Facing eviction, she came to Sunnyvale Community Services. With referrals from the caseworker, she went for credit counseling and worked out a payment plan for the outstanding bills. The mother and children would have been homeless had not SCS paid her rent while she adjusted to her new, extremely tight budget.

A 73 year-old woman can’t remember a time she didn’t work. She held jobs at high tech companies and managed the bakery department at a local grocery store. She was still working until a few months ago, when she lost her part-time job. Her social security checks basically covered her rent with very little left over. When her landlord raised the rent, her social security payments wouldn’t even cover the higher rent costs, and she was forced to move out and to live in her car. She didn’t have money for a down payment for a cheaper apartment. SCS helped her find a room to rent and paid for the first month. She continues to look for part time work to supplement her very limited social security.

A family of four had been renting a small home for six years. They were informed that the home had been foreclosed and that they had to move within one week. The parents had to take time off work (losing wages) to find a new place to live, and they did so very quickly. However, while they could afford the rent and moving expenses, they did not have enough for the required deposits. SCS paid them, and did so quickly enough to enable the family to move into a desirable affordable complex.

A young mother’s life was dramatically changed in an instant. After a car accident, she is going blind and is unable to return to work. Limited unemployment and child support were insufficient to cover the rent, and the family faced eviction. She applied for disability benefits, which can take up to four months to be approved (or longer if the help is denied). SCS prevented the family’s eviction, living on the street without a roof over their heads. She and her caseworker devised a detailed budget planning where every penny will go in the next few months. Her friends and her caseworker are amazed at her spirit and her inner strength.

A gardener’s truck died on his way to pick up his son from daycare. His wife takes the bus to and from her job, and they could not afford the repair bill. The family has about $60 left at the end of a “good month,” one without any unexpected bills. SCS paid to repair the car so the father could go to work and support his family.

Amount Spent on Financial Aid for Clients*

*Excludes pass through direct assistance to clients.

Number of People Receiving Food

*Excludes stimulus, kids and produce boxes.

Financial Notes

1. The 2009-10 audit from Deborah Daly, CPA, was 100% clean (no findings or recommendations).
2. Our overhead has consistently been 10% or lower, very low for nonprofits, especially smaller ones with fewer cost centers to distribute overhead (the nonprofit standard is less than 25%).
3. Last year we had 8 full-time staff. Annual volunteer hours now equal those of 12 full-time employees.
4. Thanks to Federal Grants, the Financial Aid to clients for 2009-10 increased by $921,674 from 2008-09 $717,283.
5. The audit and financial statements are available for anyone to view.

Program Notes

1. The financial cases provide assistance to prevent eviction and utility disconnections, to obtain otherwise unaffordable medical care to pay for car repairs and other critical needs.
2. According to funders’ requirements, a person receiving food or financial aid is certified every year.
3. The number of families/households participating in our food programs has increased over the last 5 years from 725 to over 1,465*, and families that came only several months a year now come every month.

See your donations at work. Bring your family, neighbors, colleagues, church and civic groups to see what’s involved in providing a two-week supply of food, new gifts for infants through teens, and a household gift for over 4,100 people.

TRYING TO FIND A GIFT for people on your holiday list who have enough and don’t need really anything? Give a donation in their honor to SCS. We’ll send them a card promptly saying that your gift will help provide food and gifts to over 4,100 low-income Sunnyvale residents.
Dear Friend:

Our City of Sunnyvale was well named as a beautiful valley with fields of onions, rows of orchards, and ranches. We fed others through our bounty. Neighbors all knew each other and helped each other through the hard times. Now we are the “Heart of Silicon Valley” and Sunnyvale is a much larger city, where people still help each other.

We all know people who have lost their jobs or had their work hours cut back. It may be someone who exhausted their unemployment insurance, and now is living on a friend’s couch. A former middle-manager is now working part-time without any benefits and can’t pay rent. A housekeeper and single mom lost work because her employers themselves were out of work. A home is in foreclosure, and the renters have to quickly find a new place to live.

At SCS we have been helping our neighbors in need with emergency financial assistance and food for over 40 years. And the need has never been greater. Here are some reasons to give to SCS this year.

- Your donation stays here in the community.
- We address the most basic needs everyone requires – housing, food, and health care – for the working poor, children and their families, and seniors.
- All clients are treated with dignity rather than red tape. We don’t ask families to come back in two weeks for an appointment – by that time they may have lost their home, or their children may have gone to school without food for several days. Our caseworkers can quickly determine what help a family may qualify for, verify all information, and send out the check to the landlord, utility provider, or doctor that same day.
- We are very efficient. Our staff of 8 leverages their time with 800 dedicated volunteers throughout the year, so your donation goes farther.

Last year we were trusted to administer over $762,000 in one-time federal stimulus funding. We won’t get that funding again this year, but the need continues to grow. We expect over 1,400 families to come to the Christmas Center for food and holiday gifts for their children.

Your donations to SCS help people doing everything possible to help themselves: low-income working families with multiple jobs, seniors living on minimal pensions stretching every dollar, the unemployed, and persons with disabilities trying to cover their expenses with limited benefits.

We hope you will consider making a financial contribution to SCS, at whatever level you are able to give. And if you know of someone needing emergency assistance, please refer them to SCS.

With warm wishes for a happy holiday season,

Marie Bernard, Executive Director

P. S. We invite you to a Community Christmas Center Open House, Sunday, Dec. 5 from 1-4 pm. Please bring your family, church, school, or company to see your donations at work.
